TAFT DISAPPOINTS EL PASO BOOMERS

Fair Dates Mixed and Press Agent Loses Job.

PAYNE CALLS AT WHITE HOUSE

Tariff Is Discussed by Various Representatives Who Visit Executive. Experts Unable to See President Owing to Press of Congressional Visitors—Golf Game Enlivens Day.

They're good and angry at President Taft down in El Paso, Tex. He won't postpone his visit to that city from October 18 until the first week in November, although they have asked him to do it just as politely and earnestly as they knew how.

You see, they have a State fair in El Paso during the first week in November, and they thought that if they could get the President there at that time it would be a great boost for the show.

President Diaz, of Mexico, has promised to meet President Taft when he reaches El Paso, and with such an attraction as the heads of the two greatest republics on earth giving an exhibition in the same tent, so to speak, it looked pretty fat for the fair.

Promoter Is Disappointed.

The publicity agent of the fair, a New York newspaper man, dropped into Washington yesterday for the purpose of making sure that the President would be there at the proper time, and learned to his horror that the Taft train would pass through El Paso about thirteen or fourteen days before the fair date.

"Have the President postpone his visit till after the 1st," was the telegraphic order the publicity agent received from El Paso.

The young man visited Secretary Carpenter, and was soon convinced there was no possibility of getting the President to connect. Mr. Carpenter assured him that the President would gladly do almost anything to oblige El Paso, but did not see how he could put his car on a siding and keep it there for a couple of weeks, meanwhile holding his hands, merely to help on the fair.

"Then get the President to cut out El Paso altogether," was the amazing order that the publicity agent received from his employers in Texas as soon as he had sent them the discouraging bulletin.

If the President wouldn't come when they wanted him, they did not want him at all. If he comes too soon a whole lot of people would be attracted to the town that wouldn't think of making a second visit to take in the fair.

Again the publicity agent "fell down" on his assignment. He wired his people that the President would be there on October 18, in spite of all the efforts that he made to prevent it. "Then consider your contract void," the El Pasoites wired the bright young news man, and so he is out of a job.

The President is having a strenuous time these days with the continual wrangling over the tariff bill, but he manages to squeeze in an occasional game of golf.

In Conference with Payne.

President Taft was in conference yesterday with Representative Payne, who has charge of the tariff bill in the House, and Representative McCall, of Massachusetts. The three remained closeted for a considerable time.

Among the other visitors at the White House yesterday was the Honorable Charles D. Snyder, of the War Department, and Representatives Dwight and Longworth, all of whom are well versed in the intricacies of the tariff, and are interested in the fight now in progress in Congress.

H. E. Miles and J. C. Cobb, who are interested in the project to form a permanent tariff commission, also visited the White House, and endeavored to obtain an interview with the President. Unhappily, the large number of Congressional visitors he was unable to see them.

Immediately after the departure of his visitors, President Taft went to the golf links and enjoyed a quiet game with the expert player McCann.

OFFERS MANY ATTRACTIONS.

Chesapeake Beach Popular with Pleasure Seekers This Summer.

The two nearly parallel desires of the average person during the summer season are to be cool and to find amusement. Both of these ends are easily accomplished by a trip to Chesapeake Beach.

There pleasure may be had from morn to night, and even into midnight; and there may be enjoyed the sea air and the sea itself.

Chesapeake Beach being the most convenient salt water resort within a short radius of Washington, naturally the bulk of the people in this vicinity take advantage of it at this time of the year. Everything in the way of amusement which can be found at either salt water or inland resort is there—the boardwalk, the merry-go-round, the roller coaster, the human roulette wheel, dancing pavilion, band concerts, and many other minor amusements.

A special feature that may be added to a trip to the beach is the round-trip arrangement by way of Baltimore, which permits a delightful sail on the bay and an electric car ride to the beach. Unusually popular rates are in vogue at present for this excursion.

ASK FOR SEPARATE FIGURES

Commissioners Make Request of the Board of Education.

Must Distinguish Between Those for Maintenance and for New Buildings and Sites.

The Board of Commissioners of the District has requested the board of education in making up their annual estimates for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1911, to keep separate the estimates for the maintenance of the schools from the items for new buildings and grounds.

The request says:

"In furnishing this information, the Commissioners would request that, in an item asking for an appropriation for a site for a new building; for a site and the erection thereon of a building, and for the purchase of ground as an addition to a site of an existing building, your report indicate the boundaries of the territory within which you desire the new site and building located and the particular ground which you desire as an addition to an existing site. Also, when estimating the cost of a new building, indicate the number of rooms in such building."

Commissioner Macfarland said yesterday in this connection:

"The object of this request is to enable the Commissioners to investigate the value of land in the locality where the site is desired with the purpose of informing Congress of the probable cost of the site, exclusive of the building, also to inform Congress of what amount should be appropriated for a building on such a site. It has been the policy of Congress to appropriate a lump sum for a site and the erection of a building, and frequently the cost of the site has been such that there was not sufficient money to erect a building of a character which would be erected in the locality."

"Upon receipt of this information the Commissioners will have an investigation made into the value of land and also to the cost of erecting a building containing the number of rooms desired. They can thus furnish Congress with more definite information than they have been able to do under the practice obtaining in previous years."

"This information will also tend to hasten the construction of the buildings when the appropriations are made, as the preliminary investigations as to land value and available sites will have been made, so that time can be saved in actually acquiring a site and the construction of the building can be commenced at an earlier date than formerly."

CHILDREN'S SUMMER SICKNESS

The following simple treatment will usually cure summer diarrhoea in 24 hours:

1. Stop feeding dairy milk. (The germs which cause diarrhoea thrive on fresh milk.)

2. Give to about one year old one grain of calomel cut into three doses of two hours' intervals. (Calomel kills the germs lodged in the intestines.)

3. Feed for a few days on thick rice water, strained, and just sweetened, while hot, with some condensed milk. Keep cold until used.

4. When cured, gradually substitute fresh milk, pasteurized or scalded.

Society for Prevention of Sickness E. BERLINER, Secy.

P. S.—A regular diet for children on condensed milk is very inadvisable.

Raw milk is dangerous for children, particularly in summer time. It is also risky food for invalids and persons in a run-down condition.

We favor a stringent law prohibiting the sale, or use in ice cream, of any cream not pasteurized.

WILL MAKE NO AWARD

Library Lighting Not to Be Installed by Contract.

SUPT. GREEN SILENCES PROTEST

Will Ask for Bids for Material and Do Work by Day Labor to Save Money—Electrical Workers Had Protested to Taft Because No Bids Had Been Advertised For.

The formal protest on behalf of the electrical workers of this city, sent to President Taft by John J. Purcell, business agent of Local No. 28, International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers of America, has lost its force through the decision of Superintendent Green, of the Library of Congress, to purchase the necessary materials in open market and hire workmen to install the new lighting for the bookstacks in the library.

Mr. Green made this announcement Saturday evening, and stated that he would at once advertise for proposals to furnish the material, according to usual custom. As soon as this contract is awarded and the goods received, he will employ electricians and personally supervise the work.

During the past few days there has been expressed a great deal of dissatisfaction with Supt. Green's action in asking for bids for the $15,000 lighting job at the Library without advertising that the contract was to be let. The result was a formal protest drawn by John J. Purcell and forwarded by him to President Taft, who in turn sent it Saturday to L. Garrian Herbert Putnam. This protest charged Mr. Green with violation of the law in not advertising for bids instead of asking a few firms, three of them located in New York, to submit proposals.

Bids Too High.

Saturday, when seen by a Washington Herald representative, Mr. Green stated that he asked for bids only as a preliminary measure, to test the market, and that he was wholly within the law in so doing. Furthermore, he stated, the bids received were all too high, and he did not intend to award the contract to any of the bidders, claiming that he could have the work done more cheaply by purchasing the material and employing the labor. This method, he said, is used by him in much of the work done on government buildings.

Later in the day he announced his decision to adopt that course, for the sake of economy.

"I am not satisfied with the proposals in hand," said Supt. Green, "I shall purchase the material in the open market and hire the men to do the work. In this way I can save the government a good sum. The Library of Congress, the War, State, and Navy Building, and both offices of Congress were built in this way, and I am now building the new National Museum under this system."

"I shall advertise for bids for this material, and every firm from here to the Pacific Coast will have an opportunity to submit proposals. The electricians I shall also hire in open market, and shall probably need about fifteen men. The work will be done entirely by day labor."

No Action Necessary.

In deciding to install the additional lighting in the Library by this method, at an estimated cost of $15,000, Supt. Green has made it unnecessary that any action should be taken on the protest sent to the Librarian. He states that he is wholly within the bounds of the law and precedent in having the work done in such a manner. Washington contractors will be afforded abundant opportunity to submit proposals for the material needed, and positions on the force which will be hired for the job are open to all the electricians of the city on equal terms.

As a result of this turn of affairs, it is probable that the protest will be allowed to die an unofficial death, and that nothing more will be done about the matter by organized labor.

PUMPHREY SENT TO JAIL.

Former Candy Agent Sentenced to Six Months Imprisonment.

James L. Pumphrey, former agent for a wholesale candy concern, who was arrested in Baltimore by Detectives Evans and O'Dea, on a charge of embezzling several hundred dollars from his employer, yesterday pleaded guilty in Police Court and was sentenced by Judge Kimball to six months in jail. The original charge was more prosed and a charge of petty larceny lodged against the prisoner.

Pumphrey was employed by Carl G. Mueller, a candy manufacturer, at 224 Pennsylvania avenue northwest. In October, 1907, Mueller discovered he had been robbed and shortly after Pumphrey disappeared. The fugitive was traced through four States by detectives for nearly two years before he was captured.

LARGE CLASS INITIATED.

Catholic Relief Association Reports Progress at Recent Meeting.

At a meeting of the Catholic Relief and Beneficiary Association held last Thursday, the second large class initiation took place. The candidates were instructed regarding the rules, objects, and benefits of the association by the acting chancellor, Mrs. Cecelia Clarke, and the second vice president, Mrs. Mary Kreamer, the former acting in the absence of Chancellor C. P. Judge.

To the charge which the new members received from the president was added a short address replete with good counsel and friendly advice by the president, Mrs. Katherine A. Brennan. Following the close of the meeting was a pleasant social hour, during which refreshments were served.

MARINE TRIES SUICIDE.

Arthur Lewdecker Became Despondent Because of Reduction.

Humiliated by being reduced from a corporal to a private in the Marine Corps, Arthur Lewdecker, formerly stationed in Washington, attempted to end his life at Segait, N. J., where he went from the barracks in Eighth street southeast, with a detachment of marines for rifle practice. It is understood Lewdecker was reduced in rank because he overstayed his leave of absence.

A dispatch from Segait says Lewdecker was discovered by companions when about to shoot himself with a rifle. He was placed in a gunhouse, where he will be confined until he satisfies his superiors he has decided to abandon the idea of suicide.

Passed Counterfeit Bill.

Because he passed a counterfeit $5 bill in a Ninth street saloon after being told the money was worthless, Clark Wilkerson, a lively stable employe, was yesterday sentenced in Police Court to sixty days in jail.
